

Altro's Kitchen Surfaces Solution for Scottish Parliament

Altro Stronghold & Whiterock

With 129 MSPs, over 400 staff and thousands of visitors every year, it is important that high standards are maintained throughout the Scottish Parliament building in Holyrood, Edinburgh. So, when it came to choosing materials for the kitchens, hygiene, ease of cleaning and durability were just a few of the stringent selection criteria.

The kitchens provide a very important service to the whole facility and it is vital that the materials chosen are of the highest quality. Interior surfaces specialist, Altro, provided an ideal solution, supplying Stronghold safety flooring and Whiterock wall cladding to give a practical and attractive finish. Altro Stronghold provides a safe floor surface in a busy kitchen environment as it is designed for slip-resistance in wet and greasy areas or where frequent spillage is likely. Resilient and comfortable to walk on, with good acoustic properties, Stronghold combines excellent under-foot security with long-term durability and ease of cleaning. It also incorporates bacteriostat for enhanced hygiene. Installed at the Scottish Parliament by Hygienic Finishes, Altro Whiterock is a grout-free, hygienic alternative to tiles.

With a choice of attractive single colour finishes, Whiterock provides a hardwearing surface that will stand up to the wear and tear of a busy kitchen environment. It is resistant to impact, spills and splashes without staining and is easy to clean - vital in an area where food is being prepared and served. Welded joints give an almost seamless, hygienic finish. The smooth, sealed finish of Altro Whiterock makes it easy to clean, with no joints where dirt or moisture can build up, so bacterial growth is prevented. In any kitchen, the surfaces have to cope with spills and splashes of food, and knocks from pots and pans. Whiterock can easily be wiped without staining and it doesn't crack or chip, maintaining its hygienic finish.
